

An unadvertised specialty at Herrell's, it is a method for hand-packing a pint or quart which has two flavors in it, skillfully packed side-by-side and not just one on top of the other, so that either flavor or both may be accessed and enjoyed without having to finish the top one first.